Explore AAC website

What is it?

An easy-to-use website that provides an introduction to AAC.

Who is it for?

Anyone new to AAC looking for a simple overview of communication, devices, and people who use them.

How can I use it?

Share with:

- Families
- Classroom staff
- Peers
- Administrators

AAC Language Lab

What is it?

A comprehensive resource that provides info on language stages, lesson plans, activities, programs/curriculums and much more! Subscription Fee: $19.95 annual subscription gives you access to everything.

Who is it for?

Parents/families, educators and classroom staff, SLPs, therapists, and anyone else who supports AAC learners.

How can I use it?

- Complete a language screener to find your AAC learner's language level
- Download lesson plans and activities to support that level
- Teach literacy with the Getting Ready to Read programs
- Make smart charts

Saltillo

Chat Corner and WordPower
Implementation Resources

What is it?

Realize Language

What is it?

An online service that uses data logging on a speech-generating device/app to collect, organize, and display info about words that the AAC learner uses.

Subscription Fee:
$10.00 per year

Who is it for?

Parents/families, SLPs, and educators who want to learn more about how an AAC Learner is using language on the SGD/app.

How can I use it?

- Learn the most frequently used words and word types
- See the time of the day words are used
- Find out if the AAC learner is trying to spell words
- Create a custom word list for the AAC learner and see how often they are used
- Monitor progress over a specific time period

Prentrom website

What is it?

Our new website that provides self-paced, eLearning modules and live, online instructor-led trainings. You have access to eLearning modules 24/7

Who is it for?

Parents/families, SLPs, educators, paraprofessionals, therapists and anyone who want to expand their AAC knowledge in the area of products and implementation.

How can I use it?

- Take an eLearning course to learn our vocabulary on your own time
- Sign-up for a live, instructor-led, online training and learn along with others
- Watch a short video tutorial about making changes to your vocabulary
- Get ASHA CEUs for many of these opportunities!

Your AAC Consultant can provide you with even more resources!

- Onsite product/vocabulary demonstrations
- Help with getting a trial device/evaluation equipment and funding support
- Implementation ideas, training, and encouragement!
